HG vacuum cleaner air freshener

- ideal with pets
- for 10 vacuum-cleaner bags

Vacuum cleaners can start to smell, because during normal use the dirt can stay in the bag or the dust container (for bagless cleaners) for a long time, which can produce a musty, acrid smell. During vacuuming, the air flows past the sucked up dirt, and therefore the musty, acrid smell comes out via the vacuum cleaner's air exhaust. Pet hairs in particular are a source of this smell, even when you empty the dust container or change the bag regularly. HG vacuum cleaner air freshener prevents the development of the smell in the bag or the dust container and ensures that the vacuum cleaner produces a wonderfully fresh fragrance during vacuuming.

Directions for use: Use the bottle top as a measuring cup. Fill 4 tops to the rim with HG vacuum cleaner air freshener and empty it onto the floor. Vacuum up the granules with the vacuum-cleaner head. Add new granules every time you change the bag.
